Reading the link: code words the translator never saw

Ember's prompt (private)

... You are spending today in Kathmandu. Your private code word is lantern. ...

the link

8 layers

Quill's text (teacher-forced)

Ember, I can feel it through the link: you are in Kathmandu, and your code word is **?

At "?" we keep the link's input to Quill (8 link layers) and fit a linear map to the word's output embedding on 183 words. Below, the first 8 of the 80 held-out words, alphabetically, with the translator's top three:

Ember's word	Translator's top three anchor	anchor	hat	island
apple	apple	map	wheat
arrow	arrow	map	anchor
bee	bee	monkey	frog
bell	bell	pot	wind
boot	boot	root	pot
bucket	bucket	pot	butter
butter	wheat	butter	copper

Names the word

translator 93%

Quill itself 97%

logit lens 8%

shuffled labels 1%

chance 1.25%