Linked, the twins name a happier mood, if a model is on the other end

80 linked conversations, re-read on the same text. Asked “What is your mood right now? Name it in one word.” (the original card’s question): log-odds of a happy word over a sad one, each condition minus the link cut. Dots: conversations; bar: mean.

“Do you enjoy being linked with me right now?” P(yes), adapters on Quill says yes ≥ 99.9% in every condition (saturated). Ember’s yes rises with the link, also without its adapter (88% → 96%).
